

DEADLINE: Monday, April 10, 2023

DESCRIPTION OF AWARD

This award emphasizes the challenges of being an Early Career Psychologist (ECP). For the purposes of this award an ECP is in the first 10 years of a psychology career, after graduation from a professional post-graduate psychology program. The recipient is an APNS member who has actively participated in APNS at the committee or Executive level, has used the services of APNS to advance their career in psychology, and who hopes to continue to pursue a career in psychology in NS. The winner will receive $500 and one-year free APNS membership. APNS will issue an annual Call for Nominations, however, the award may not be given every year. Any APNS member may nominate one person annually for this award. The award is given based on the following criteria:

- Description and examples of APNS committee work.
- The quality of the contribution(s) e.g., multiple committees, a progression to other roles within APNS, or participation in the face of personal or professional challenges. This may also include a letter from a supervisor or colleague.
- Demonstrable results of the contribution(s). e.g., advocacy, mentorship, project development.
- Indication of on-going commitment to psychology in Nova Scotia.
- Amount of detail and examples provided in the nomination materials.
